What is Net Banking?

Net banking is also referred to as internet banking. It is an electronic system provided by banks to their customers that allows them to access financial and non-financial banking services in minutes. The net banking system eliminates the need to physically visit the bank. Net banking allows customers to easily access a variety of banking services such as money transfers, the creation of FDs and RDs, the tracking of transactions, and so on.

Any customer who has an active bank account with the bank can use internet banking or net banking. In order to use net banking, a customer must first register. After registering, he or she will be able to use the online banking services.

Benefits

Some of the most prominent advantages of internet banking include the following:

- With internet banking, you can transfer money from one account to another. You can initiate inter and intrabank fund transfers, domestically and internationally. You can send funds to beneficiaries within an hour using money transfer channels like NEFT, RTGS, and IMPS.
- Another benefit of internet banking is that you can conveniently open fixed and recurring deposit accounts online. You can choose your preferred deposit type (cumulative or non-cumulative), amount, and investment term.
- You can pay utility bills like electricity, telephone, gas, etc., from the comfort of your home and enable auto-debit options never to miss a payment. You
